

Music that changes the environment.

Your favorite song starts and all the joy you feel, you now also see, involves it in your surrounding; filling your environment with blue skies, rainbows and happy people. A woman is walking across the street with a dragon circulating around her head, what does she listen to? if you focus on the dragon a different song starts in your headphones that transform your path to the subway to a dark and cold dungeon. Watch out for the sleeping dragons, lurking in the dark. Change to a sad song about war and lost love; you are on a battlefield and all the other people walking up the street are now wearing military clothing and guns, some wounded, some carrying a dead fellow and crying. Change to a upbeat song and everything is turned to a dancefloor.. and so on.

This would be for those who want a different musical experience; they are perhaps tired of the dull way to school, work or the subway? An idea for the curious and the bored, anyone who needs to relax and for those who want more excitement in life.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=B4Kybxu7fiQ>