

Oral exam

Issued May 11, 2011 10:23 AM

As you know there will be an oral exam on the theory content of the course. The purpose is to encourage you to spend some time on the understanding of the fundamental (theoretical) parts of the course content and how your code works.

Here are the rules:

- It will be you, me and a whiteboard (no slides, papers, books etc.)
- You will start by declaring your level of proficiency & knowledge in terms of points, 3, 4 or 5.
- You will then give a 7 minutes long presentation of a topic of your choice. Maybe you want to choose one of the topics from a lecture or choose some other topic- that is up to you. The focus shall be on “understanding of the theory and fundamental relations”. Convince me you know the stuff :-)
- After your presentation we will continue our discussion for 10-20 minutes.
- Finally I will declare my decision of your level of proficiency.
