Main field of study

Specific prerequisites

Language of instruction

The language of instruction is specified in the course offering information in the course catalogue.

Intended learning outcomes

The aim of the course is to get students in media technology to recognize and explore the connections between technology, economy and social factors in the technical innovation and development processes. This is done through cooperation between course participants in a project form.

Students who have followed the course should be able to:

- form a holistic picture of the connections between media techniques, media content, communication, processes, and target groups
- participate in and manage larger media projects
- cooperate and work in a goal-oriented manner in groups where different competences and interests are represented.

Course contents

Students will within the course analyze, reflect on, reevaluate and develop an industry related media project.

This will be examined primarily through:

- oral and written presentations during the course
- a presentation of the project at the end of the course.

Course literature

Will be announced at least 2 weeks before course start at course web page.

Examination

- PRO1 - Project, 7.5 credits, grading scale: P, F

Based on recommendation from KTH's coordinator for disabilities, the examiner will decide how to adapt an examination for students with documented disability.

The examiner may apply another examination format when re-examining individual students.

If the course is discontinued, students may request to be examined during the following two academic years.

Compulsory presence at some of the hours of instruction.

Ethical approach

- All members of a group are responsible for the group's work.

- In any assessment, every student shall honestly disclose any help received and sources used.
- In an oral assessment, every student shall be able to present and answer questions about the entire assignment and solution.
