COURSE GOALS:

After the course the participants should among other things be able to:

- Define the risks in a project
- Make routines for procurement in a project
- Define competence needs for the project and know how to measure and visualise the competence profile
- Write a quality plan for the project according to ISO 10005
- Measure and uphold quality both of products and the management
- Perform change management in projects
- Make a feedback system for lessons learned

Kursinnehåll

COURSE CONTENTS:

The background for the three areas will be presented and discussed. In HRM the measurements of competence and the need of competence in the project will be in focus. Also how to ensure that the right personnel is available at the time when they are needed is important. Quality aims at ensuring quality in products and services complying with the standard ISO 10005 Guidelines for quality plan. Estimation of time and the risk of overrunning a project will be the main part of time management.

Kursupplägg

COURSE DISPOSITION:

Most of the study work will be performed in groups manifested in 3 papers as group assignments submitted during the course. One final group seminar report is obligatory and part of the examination. During the work other literature references are to be found by the students themselves.
