

LD1000 Learn to learn online

2.0 credits

Lär dig lära online

This is a translation of the Swedish, legally binding, course syllabus.

If the course is discontinued, students may request to be examined during the following two academic years

Establishment

On 20 August 2021, the Dean of the ITM school has decided establish this official course syllabus to apply from spring term 2022, registration number: M-2021-1447.

Grading scale

P, F

Education cycle

First cycle

Main field of study

Technology and Learning

Specific prerequisites

General entry requirements only

Language of instruction

The language of instruction is specified in the course offering information in the course catalogue.

Intended learning outcomes

After passing the course, the student should be able to:

- Identify and explain central concepts in the learning process.
- Describe and apply central concepts, theories and methods in digital learning in relation to their own study context.
- Design and apply strategies for studies that can improve the own learning in an online environment.

Course contents

The course aims at developing competence and skills to understand, analyse, plan and implement study strategies that can improve the learning in an online environment.

- Presentation of central concepts about learning based on current research about psychology, cognition and motivation.
- Design of study strategies that are adapted to behaviours and types of instruction in an online environment
- Apply study strategies and digital tools to improve the distance learning and learning in digital environments.

Examination

- LEXA - Continuous assessment, 2.0 credits, grading scale: P, F

Based on recommendation from KTH's coordinator for disabilities, the examiner will decide how to adapt an examination for students with documented disability.

The examiner may apply another examination format when re-examining individual students.

The assessment is done through continuous examination components. The examination components consist of e.g. multiple-choice questions and open-ended questions. Final grades are given if all examination components are passed.

Ethical approach

- All members of a group are responsible for the group's work.
- In any assessment, every student shall honestly disclose any help received and sources used.
- In an oral assessment, every student shall be able to present and answer questions about the entire assignment and solution.